

The Green Dot Challenge™ Gets Students Excited for Learning

Learn how Hannah Kever, Assistant Principal at Spartanburg Prep in South Carolina, implements the Green Dot Challenge to engage student learning!

What is the Green Dot Challenge?

The Green Dot Challenge is a way for teachers to individualize a student's learning by breaking down each standard. Through progress monitoring and one-on-one conferences, teachers and students are able to identify areas a student should focus on.

“Each grade has a huge data wall in the hallway with a list of each standard they have learned throughout the year. Once each student receives a green dot or star on a specific standard, they put a sticker under each standard. At the end of the school year, each winning grade level will be rewarded with a pizza and a movie party for the students. The teachers win two extra hours of planning during the party. Displaying the data wall and making it a competition is a win-win!”

“After presenting the challenge to the kids, they started cheering and clapping. They love it! Every time they see me in the hall, they get excited and run up to tell me about the green dots and stars they have already earned. It's awesome!”

“I fully believe in Progress Learning! It is a great tool to use as an administrator and as a teacher. It has had a positive impact on our school for sure!”
